Crisis in German Auto Industry Does Not Affect Production in Kragujevac

The crisis in Germany's automotive industry has so far not disrupted production at Stellantis in Kragujevac. Serbia's automobile exports reached about €2.8 billion in the first six months of 2026, with the Fiat Grande Panda among the main drivers of exports; the plant is operating in three shifts and is preparing negotiations on a new collective agreement.

World Bank: Serbia's Economic Growth to Accelerate to 3.1% in 2026

The World Bank estimates that Serbia's growth will accelerate from 2% in 2025 to 3.1% in 2026 and 3.7% in 2027. Growth is expected to be supported by public investment, tourism, rising household income and stronger exports, particularly automobiles, while Serbia is expected to grow somewhat faster than the Western Balkans average in the coming years.

Đedović Handanović: Gas Link with North Macedonia in Q1 2028

Serbia will begin laying the first pipes next week on the 145-kilometer gas interconnector with North Macedonia. The goal is to complete the Serbian section in the first quarter of 2028, giving the country an additional supply route via Greece and North Macedonia and access to the Vertical Gas Corridor.

Who Profits from Personal Data and How Much

Research by the European consumer organisation BEUC estimates that the average user loses more than €100 in economic value each year because of the way technology companies use personal data. The organisation warns that weakening data protection could impose major costs on citizens and companies, particularly in an era of rapidly expanding use of artificial intelligence.
