

NINAMEDIA CLIPPING

DAILY REPORT ECONOMIC REVIEW

ninamedia

DAILY REPORT ECONOMY REVIEW

Danas

Net Profit Falls, Some Companies Move from Profit to Loss

The 2025 financial results of major retail chains in Serbia show a significant decline in net profit compared with the previous year. Danas links this trend to the government's restrictions on retail margins, introduced in September 2025. Delhaize is singled out: according to the article, its profit fell from around 7.4 billion dinars to approximately one billion dinars.

Danas

What Now for Houses Not Registered in the Cadastre?

The additional deadline for registering unrecorded properties under the "Svoj na svome" (Own Your Own) program expires on October 24. Citizens who missed the original deadline must explain and document valid reasons for the delay. Registration in the cadastre also involves paying a fee that, depending on the location and type of property, may exceed the widely advertised amount of 100 euros.

Politika

Meat Prices Also Depend on Local Supply

Live livestock prices in Serbia remain uneven, with increases for certain categories in Kraljevo, Pančevo, Kikinda, and Srem, while some purchase prices have declined in Mačva and Podrinje. According to STIPS data, the purchase price of fattened pigs at slaughterhouses in Kikinda reached 250 dinars per kilogram. Agricultural economics analyst Čedomir Keco notes that the speed at which falling European prices affect imports and domestic purchasing will be important for local producers.

Politika

More Reliable Electricity Supply in Niš; Nestlé Continues Strong Growth

Work on the "Niš 6" substation and the associated power line has been completed in Niš, which should improve the reliability of electricity supply for residents and businesses. The article states that investments by Elektrodistribucija Srbije and Elektromreža Srbije are worth a total of 20 million euros. The same report also presents data on Nestlé's business growth, including the production of more than ten million kilograms of seasonings over the past decade.

Politika

Motorway Construction Boosts Investment

Investment in motorways and express roads is presented as an important driver of investment and regional development in Serbia. The article states that 686 kilometres of these roads have been built over the past 13 years, with another 434 kilometres under construction. Economist Srđan Barac emphasizes that better infrastructure reduces business costs, connects markets, and makes jobs more accessible.

Danas

Fuel Marking as a Tool Against the Shadow Economy

The fuel-marking program is presented as a tool against the shadow economy and for monitoring legal petroleum-product sales. The article reports an increase in legally sold fuel and a decline in irregularities during the program's implementation. Market inspectors check for markers to trace fuel origins and protect consumers.