BUSINESS PLATFORM LAUNCHED, BUSINESS CARAVAN TO START SOON

The Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Serbia and Expo 2027 have launched a business platform through which domestic companies can present their products, services, and capacities and connect with international partners. A Business Caravan across Serbian cities and municipalities was also announced, with the aim of presenting businesses with opportunities to take part in Expo 2027 and prepare for cooperation with foreign companies.

Crisis changes food producers' strategies

Weaker consumption in developed markets and the rising cost of living are changing the strategies of major global producers of food, beverages, and consumer goods. Companies such as Nestlé and Unilever are increasingly looking for growth opportunities in India, Vietnam, Africa, and Latin America, where household incomes and consumption are rising.

Payment of 6,000 starts tomorrow

Payment of the one-off allowance of 6,000 dinars begins on September 22, and more than 1.65 million citizens have applied for the measure so far. Citizens entitled to payments from the Share Fund, pensioners, and social assistance beneficiaries will receive the money first, while payments to other registered citizens begin on September 23.

PLENTY OF PEPPERS, LITTLE PROFIT

Vegetable growers in the Moravica region are facing low purchase prices, weaker demand, and high production costs, even though this year's pepper crop is good. Producers say that drought and daily irrigation have further increased costs, while peppers are being sold at prices that barely cover their investment.

New blow to Chinese platforms from November 1

The European Parliament has approved a customs reform introducing a new fee for processing packages from third countries and stricter rules for online platforms such as Temu and Shein. Member states are expected to start charging a special administrative fee by November 1 at the latest, while the platforms will be required to have a registered office or an authorized representative in the EU.

Fighting fast fashion and synthetic materials

European experts are preparing solutions to increase the value of wool, whose market price has fallen sharply in recent years under pressure from synthetic materials. New uses in agriculture, construction, and the circular economy are being considered, along with a common standard and traceability systems that could make it easier for producers to market their wool.
